

Unique opportunity in the Netherlands

Trend watcher - Project Management in ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY IN LOCAL AND TERRITORIAL DEVELOPMENT – 10 months as of March 2022 until December 2022.

At Brabant Next (Brabant.nl) add values to social initiatives in Brabant. Furthermore, we contribute to new values about how society interacts with the environment. We use our brains to build smart solutions for urgent challenges. We do this with real initiatives. Our motto: just do it.

We cannot create values alone. That is why we at De Brabant Next (De Waardemakers) incubator work together with education, government, entrepreneurs and society. Do you want to make a meaningful contribution to the society in Brabant (part of the south of the Netherlands) as a volunteer? We offer you the opportunity to do things differently and to be creative. By thinking and acting out-of-the-box with a team of young professionals and experts. You will do research (internationally) and execute ideas for environmental topics such as sustainable energy, mobility, sustainable cities, a circular economy, climate action.

Examples: Research (internationally) new solutions for busses in cities.

What are we looking for: a pro-active networker. Who is able to get the right information and turn this into practise with a team of professionals. A person who combines external knowledge exchange into innovative solutions. The volunteer needs to speak fluently the English language and comes from a member country of the European Union.
